

We are currently looking for vendors, contractors, and resellers / agents in:

WSJ Expert Services

Belgium, France, Portugal, Southern and Central parts of Spain, Greece, Austria, Deutschland, Iceland, Canada, Italy, Korea, Australia and Arab countries

If you are interested in working as our vendor / agent or you are already in the timber business you can take a big step forward in expanding your business operations.

Ab WSJ Expert Services Oy is a company created specifically for wood industry. We produce and develop industrial machines for wood protecting.

Fire protect with biological protection included.

First effective and environmentally friendly protection method for wood.

Ab WSJ Expert Services Oy has developed an entirely new method in order to protect timber and other wood based products. The protection covers: mould-, rot-, wood blue stain fungi- and termite protection. The protection method is nontoxic and odourless. It is safe to use through the entire process from raw material to end use. Timber and other building materials can be protected in an entire unique way to achieve a very high quality, from the start of the building process to the end use, for example residential building.
